SCENTCOMMUNICATION

Scent: the most emotional way to communicate

The only sense which is directly connected with the limbic system

Scents: faster than visual and audio signals

First impression is determined by scent and it is decisive for liking or disliking an environment, a person, a brand or a product

Scents make us decide instinctively

The human brain recalls scents better than any other information

SCENTCOMMUNICATION

Challenge:

Create the impression of fresh air and a relieving atmosphere on the several thousand square meter BMW pavillion at IAA 2007 (International Automobile Show in Frankfurt). Discreet, yet highly sophisticated impressions should be created accordingly to the brand values of BMW.

Solution:

Scentcommunication connected four ScentDiffuser systems to the A/Cs in the pavillion. Air outlets around the entrance area and underneath several cars created beautiful scented environments on the BMW booth.

Challenge:

Creation of a signature scent for Swissotel, combining a brand scent with local ingredients, that make you feel "at home" and at the same time have a local touch.

Solution:

Sissel Tolaas created a sophisticated scent with typical Swiss ingredients, luxurious components and typical Berlin smells. They combine to a unique and very pleasant experience in the large open lobby of the hotel. Hardware: ScentDiffuser.aircon attached to the air handling unit.

Challenge:

Enhance the ambient air in important areas of the hotel and function rooms. The scent should support the perception of the modern architecture and combine it with typical aspects of the Copenhagen area.

Solution:

A fresh and energizing scent, slightly abstract with natural ingredients delivered through ScentDiffuser systems. The project is realized by our Danish partner UrbanX.
